The workstations will be 40mins in duration. This allows time to for a short presentation or talk about the workstation and time to get hands on experience. There will be a 3-4min turnaround time at the end for delegates to move between stations. There will be a 5min warning when session ends.

I would like to extend a huge thank you to our speakers and those running the workstations today. Without their involvement, this would not have been the great success and as informative as it was.

Please encourage your colleagues to continue to support the education sessions that NZATS are putting together. Together we can all continue our professional development. Keep an eye on the NZATS website EVENTS tab and calendar for future education course dates.
